

Light, Darkness and Colour Path of Spiritual Development

Liane Collot d'Herbois, artist, healer and spiritual seeker, developed a series of exercises to help students to grow in spiritual maturity through connecting to the living Being of Colour.

The students own practise involves daily observation exercises, painting and charcoal work, meditation, study and written assignments.

Medical lectures and other specialist subjects form an integral part of the training; students may access these in their own locality

Two to three times a year there is an opportunity to paint with like-minded people who come together to experience the exercises both in charcoal work and in water colour painting. These are guided exercise and no previous experience is necessary.

Students can attend on a casual basis. But for those that would like to go through the whole path of training there is an opportunity to attend 14 colour modules either here in Australia, Thailand or China.

Graduates receive a diploma which qualifies them to work as a Therapeutic Artist trained in the Liane Collot d'Herbois method.

The Training is accredited by the European Academy for Anthroposophic Art Therapies, which is an evaluation and quality assurance body of the Medical Section at the Goetheanum, Dornach, Switzerland.
